

Course Development Challenge!

Last Updated Monday, 13 September 2010 21:43

This course is a result of a challenge we received from a friend: Develop an eLearning course from scratch as quickly as possible using a free tool for the main development. Just make things interesting, it had to be a tool we had not used before.

We chose udutu , a free on-line eLearning development tool. We also used Snagit and PowerPoint to develop the images. The result took about 8 hours of work. It's simple, linear, and can be vastly improved, but it's not bad considering we were learning udutu as we went!

Click on the image to launch the course in a new window.